January 9, 2004

Dear Alumni and Friends:

We are pleased to announce that the University of Mississippi will be hosting the 2004 Deep South ASCE Student Regional Conference, March 25-27, 2004, on the Ole Miss campus. This coincides with the Grove Bowl so we are expecting a big turnout for this event. Because so much attention will be focused on this event, we want to do everything possible to put on a conference that is not only enjoyable for the schools involved, but also demonstrates how well ASCE represents Ole Miss. Right now we are in the process of raising sponsorships to make this conference a great success.

If you are not familiar with the Deep South Conference, it is an annual event that is sponsored by the American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE). This conference brings together 13 ASCE Student Chapters throughout Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana, and Arkansas to compete in various competitions. This event allows ASCE members from these chapters to gain valuable hands-on experience, as well as great teamwork skills. The competitions are: AISC National Steel Bridge Competition, National Concrete Canoe Competition, Environmental Engineering Competition, Land Surveying (in the Grove), Ethics Paper, and for fun, a Concrete Bowling Ball Competition.

We would appreciate your help finding sponsors for the ASCE Deep South Conference. Your assistance will help with the costs of hosting this year's event. The costs include the competitions, conference banquet, facility rental, refreshments, food, awards, etc. Our chapter will recognize the sponsors by displaying their names and/or logos throughout the various conference events as well as on conference literature. Hundreds of the best and brightest Civil Engineering students in the region will know who helped make this event possible. Any contributions made are in support of the Ole Miss ASCE Student Chapter. If you can arrange for your company to be a sponsor or prefer to make a gift yourself, we welcome your participation. If your company has a community or public relations office that we could speak with, please let us know about setting up a meeting or conference call.

Enclosed is a sponsorship form along with a schedule of conference events. Thank you for your consideration and generosity. If you need any additional information or have any questions please call the Department of Civil Engineering at 662-915-7191 or email the Deep South Conference Chair.

Sincerely,

Brian Tenkhoff
